EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

2425 East Thomas Road in Phoenix is a centrally located, mid-century retail/office/commercial property offering a wide array of uses. Constructed in the late 1950s, this two-story building sits just east of the southeast corner of 24th Street and Thomas Road. The property has strong visibility and convenient access to major thoroughfares. The property features flexible floor plan options, including configurations with private offices, ground-floor entry, and plug-and-play capabilities, making it well-suited for small businesses or operators seeking an efficient, move-in-ready environment.

In addition to the property, two residential homes located directly south of the property are also available for purchase, offering a prospective buyer the opportunity for future expansion or redevelopment. Please contact the listing agents for more information about the residential properties.

Phoenix is one of the fastest-growing metropolitan areas in the country, driven by a strong labor market, diverse industries, and a steadily expanding population. The city offers an attractive business environment with affordable operating costs, a skilled workforce, and major transportation infrastructure connecting the region to national and international markets. Known for its year-round sunshine, quality of life, and broad mix of residential, retail, and employment centers, Phoenix continues to draw new residents and companies alike. Its balanced economic growth, rising consumer demand, and ongoing development activity position the city as a leading hub in the Southwest for business, innovation, and long-term investment.
